Timber Queensland membership benefits and services

In today's rapidly changing business and building regulatory environment, it is essential to keep up to date and have access to the latest information when required. As your representative, Timber Queensland is well positioned to be informed and have input as issues develop and policies, standards and regulations are prepared. As the peak state body for the timber industry, Timber Queensland provides high level input to Ministers and Departments on issues that impact the supply chain, and works to increase the use and consumption of timber as the preferred building material.
